

Flow for the proces

* This part is in our institutions called auditions (like an expanded employment interviews). The Applicant gets grades for the auditions, that are recorded in the system. The proces is repeated in first round, second round and so on, until the institutions is left with the numbers of students that match their number of study places. The numbers of rounds vary from each institution/education from 1-10.

The gray fields are the part of the proces that takes place outside the system.

When the Applicant has received a invitation/offer or a refusal, the Applicant has a "status" in the system (see requirements specification).
